

Factory Production Electrical Instructions

Please well noted that all factories in China currently use electricity provided by the State Grid for production.

As the Chinese government attaches great importance to environmental protection, it is forbidden for any manufacturing enterprises to use carbon production, and any factories are found will be closed down by the government.

Our water soluble non woven bag factory, all the production lines are completed by electricity, there is no carbon production. At the same time, each of our production processes are strictly inspected to complete all production under standard production conditions and ensure good product quality.

So whether the production of water soluble non-woven bag production conditions, workshop environment, the use of raw materials, each production process, or each product packaging, our technical personnel have strict screening and supervision, to achieve environmental protection and pollution-free effect.
